NoticeMATCH helps organisations quickly uncover a death so they can do the right thing for the bereaved.

Depending on the organisation that may mean uncovering a Will, identifying bank accounts or other financial assets such as insurance policies you did not know about, or simply ensuring they stop sending unnecessary mail.

The organisations that use NoticeMATCH care about relationships and understand that finalising a loved one's affairs can be extremely difficult and upsetting. They want to help.

You, your funeral director or lawyer can add a death for free

Adding a death with us will mean the deceased's name can be matched against the organisations customer lists and they are alerted to the change in life status and can act quickly.

When you add a death with us we will verify this with the attending funeral home or lawyer before making it available for matching.

We never share your personal information with any organisation unless you opt in to do so.
